

The New Landscape for Advising Practices and the Impact for Succession

The average age of a financial planner/adviser is now approaching retirement. What is the outlook for your business in the changing dealer business model? What are the options for your business and clients as you plan for your succession or continuation within the industry?